

Effects of frass from black soldier fly (Hermetia illucens) larvae and yellow mealworms (Tenebrio molitor) on growth and resistance to insect herbivores of field mustard (Brassica rapa): differences between insect species and frass treatments

Brassica rapa plants were grown in unamended soil (NoFrass; control) or soil amended with black soldier fly, Hermetia illucens L. (Diptera: Stratiomyidae) frass (BSFF) or yellow mealworm Tenebrio molitor L. (Coleoptera: Tenebrionidae) frass (MWF) at 2g kg⁻¹)

